

Jim Eyre: The intention here was to design a lightweight structure, stiff enough to be brought in one piece over the majority of the busy canal so as to minimise disruption (right).

Suspension bridges are notoriously sensitive to wind, and as such, long spans must be rigorously tested (left).